

The study of grammar system of foreign language, formation of skills in recognition, understanding and use of grammar forms in oral and written communication.